

Future perfect simple and continuous

Exercise 3

Key with answers

A: How long have you been preparing your campaign, Derek?

B: By the end of this month I will have been working on it for a year.

A: For a year? And do you think you will have launched it by the end of June?

B: I hope so. I suppose we will have made all the posters and TV shots by then.

A: Why has it taken you so long?

B: We needed a lot of data to support our arguments. Before we start it in July, several teams of experts will have been collecting data for six months. And we'll have to sort them out. But we will have finished it by the end of June.

A: I wish you all good luck, Derek. And I hope that before your campaign ends, the public transport in our city will have changed for the better.

Our tip: www.e-grammar.org/pdf-books/ All PDF exercises + grammar rules in one place.